PRESS RELEASE

Date: 27th February 2016

Author Parisa Jenkins has become a regular contributor to 'Psychic News' magazine

Parisa Jenkins, an author and animal communicator from Cornwall has become the newest contributor to the Spiritualist magazine 'Psychic News'. Parisa will be writing articles about her animal communication and healing work which she developed when her beloved family dog Bella went missing and was subsequently found. Talking of how her skills developed during this time, she says "I found to amazement that animal communication was possible and I was surprisingly good at it".

Parisa will be regularly contributing to Psychic News, in her first article in February 2016 she contributed an article about Pet Psychics. In the March 2016 edition of 'Psychic News', Parisa writes about how her animal communication and healing skills help a horse called Alfie whose fractures are life threatening.

Parisa has published a book called 'Talking to Animals' which provides readers with basic animal communication lessons. Her debut novel, 'FindBella – the search to get Bella home' is about the heartfelt true story of how her family dog Bella went missing and was shockingly found 230 miles away. Both books are available at Amazon.
